

Bringing everyone together

2024 was the year of the move! We looked to our experience (rather than convention) and designed our perfect campus, inviting and comfortable for dogs and people, innovative from top to bottom.

The Adoption Center has space for much more matchmaking. The full vet clinic means more efficient procedures and shorter lengths of stay for the mutts. A dedicated intake area means a space for new dogs to decompress. We immediately expanded our community programs like Cuddle Club, thanks to our big new Community Center.

More pluses: walk-in visitors! People come in just to look around and they fall in love. We're also a destination. We have had visitors drive hundreds of miles to meet and adopt our dogs.

We launched a Spanish-language version of our website. Multilingual speakers on staff make sure all our visitors get the full Muttville experience!

We want as many people as possible to have the opportunity to meet our senior dogs and as many dogs as possible to get a new beginning. All of this – all of these second chances – are because of you. Thank you for saving their lives!

With woofs of gratitude,

Adoptions are soaring. How? Volunteers!

To make sure enough people are on the adoption floor to help visitors, we created a new system: Adoption specialists on staff teach volunteers, who then become mentors that teach other volunteers. More adoptions are handled by volunteers than staff!

A glimpse of the lives you save

You're the reason our senior dogs get second chances. Here are two whose lives you saved.

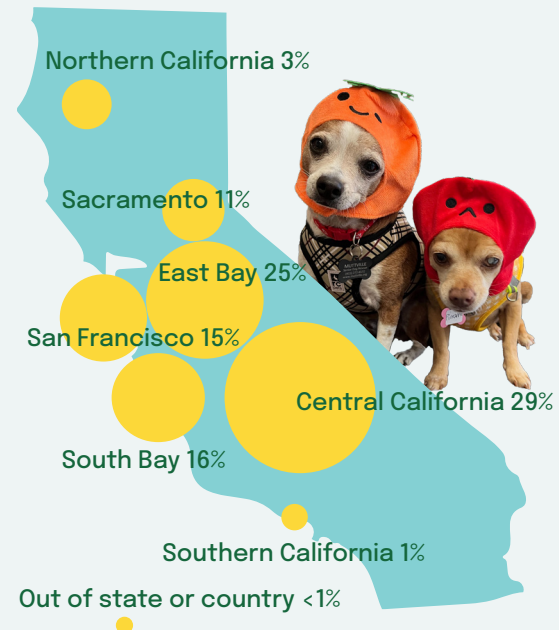

True North came in with a badly injured tail that had to be partially amputated. He also had an injured front foot that had developed an infection from bacteria extremely resistant to treatment. He had to have critical care, including bandage changes every day. He's now healthy and living happily ever after.

Reggie was abandoned in San Francisco's McLaren Park in the pouring rain, unable to walk. A kind stranger took him to SF Animal Care and Control. SFACC knew where an older guy with a rough history could have a future: They called Muttville.

He looked like he had been hit by a car. He was in terrible pain. We fixed his mouth, relieved his pain, treated his leg, and found him the perfect loving home where he not only gets around, he sprints!

Where do the dogs come from?
